Front End Web Developer leveraging fashion background to build visually appealing web applications. As a recent graduate in Full Stack Certificate Program this will further my skills to create functional applications with technologies such as JavaScripts, JQuery, MERN to name a few. I have successfully planned an annual networking event for aspiring and seasoned business women to increase their professional network. My problem solving skills were developed while managing retail establishments, producing photo shoots and fashion shows. I am passionate about businesses and will be a great addition and asset to your company, where I can assist in building responsive, functional and quality web applications.
